

THREE ARE ADDED TO CITY WAR DEAD

Revised Casualties Increase Sorrow in Two Philadelphia Homes

23 FROM STATE IN LIST

Three More Wounded Victims From Here on Latest Report

ANTHONY PERRY, Corp. Joseph M. Meehan, Wounded.

Although he was wounded and gassed, Corporal Joseph J. Meehan wrote several letters from Base Hospital 58 telling his parents at 4551 North Seventeenth street, this city, he was feeling fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meehan, the parents, heard first of their son's wounds in a letter last week. Meehan was wounded early in the war. The adjutant wrote that he supposed the parents knew their son was wounded, then volunteered the information that the soldier had been shot in the right hand, but had recovered after a few weeks and returned to duty.

Corporal Meehan, who is twenty-one years old, enlisted in March, 1917. He trained at Camp Hancock nine months. He is a painter and formerly attended St. Francis Parochial School. A brother, Frank Meehan, Jr., in the navy, is stationed at Newport, R. I.

Corrections to previous casualty reports brought sorrow to two Philadelphia families today. Joseph Reitz, adjutant reported missing, is said to have died from wounds. His parents live at 2555 East Toga street. Corporal Harry Waller, 131 Moore street, reported wounded in action several months ago, is now said to be dead. No cause for the soldier's death was given and his parents, who live at the Moore street address, have written to Washington and to the commanding officer of his company for a more detailed report.

Corporal Waller was attached to Company A, 215th Infantry, and sailed overseas in July, after a month's training at Camp Meade.

Private Joseph Reitz, the other man on the corrected report, died from wounds received seven days before the armistice. Reitz had been in the army a year. He was born in this country of an Italian family. He trained at Camp Meade and sailed for France in July as a member of Company H, 215th Infantry.

Another city man is added to the pneumonia victims. He is Private Wil-

Ham Schweiker, son of Mrs. Marie Schweiker, 1282 North Twenty-seventh street. A War Department telegram said he died February 10, after coming through several engagements without injury. He was twenty-eight years old and a member of the 166th Infantry, having been drafted in January, 1918. He trained at Camp Meade and sailed May last.

Joseph Reitz, 19 North Fifty-ninth street, wounded, with degree undetermined, and Frederick W. Negler, 144 West Walnut street, wounded slightly, bring the total for the city today up to six.

There are twenty-three Pennsylvanians included in a total of 232 casualties for the country.

SEEKS START FOR SEA FLIGHT

U. S. Destroyer Investigating for Base—Newfoundland Suggested

Washington, March 25.—Some point in Newfoundland probably will be the "jumping off" place for American seaplanes in the attempt to cross the Atlantic, although the planes will make their first start from Rockaway Beach, Long Island. Announcement by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, published today, disclosed that the destroyer Barney had been ordered to Newfoundland to select bases for the flight.

The Barney is expected by Navy Department officials to return to the United States within about ten days, with a report on the investigation. The planes for the proposed flight, now being made ready at Rockaway Beach, will follow the Atlantic coast to Newfoundland, where the final tests will be made and fuel supplies obtained.

Dancer Made Much but Spent It All

New York, March 25.—Vernon Castle, dancer and actor, died of pneumonia at his home in New York City. He was thirty-one years old. His estate is valued at $1000, but he was leaving all his property to his wife, leaving her a widow. The old rumor of the "wealth" he had amassed in the midst of the public dancing craze is exploded. William Klein, counsel for Mrs. Castle, said today: "Like so many actors, Vernon Castle lived up to every dollar he earned. His income was certainly large at one time, but there is little left."

PLAN VICTORY LOAN PARADE

West Philadelphians Meet Tonight to Arrange for Turnout

Plans for a parade to advance the cause of the approaching Victory Liberty Loan will be discussed tonight at a meeting in the West Philadelphia High School for Girls. Forty-seventh and Walnut streets. The parade will be held Saturday night. A series of informal meetings will be held in front of the West Philadelphia loan headquarters, Fifty-second and Sansom streets. Major R. T. Denig, of the Fifth Regiment of marines, recently awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, will be the principal speaker tonight. Mrs. B. F. Richardson, director of the campaign in West Philadelphia, and Thomas Shallenbarger, Jr., co-operating chairman, will also address the meeting.

The West Philadelphia committee is making all efforts to secure the assistance of every woman for Victory Loan work, as the campaign in that section of the city will be conducted almost entirely by women.

The central Liberty Loan committee and the local postal authorities have granted the West Philadelphia loan workers the privilege of using the franking envelope to send out the appeals to workers.

Thursday night another meeting will be held at the St. Mark Hotel, Fifty-sixth street and Kingsessing avenue.

Special Announcements for To-morrow (Wednesday)

Easter Suits and Dresses Were Never More Appealing Than They Are This Spring

THE spirit of "dress-up" is in the air, and the impression of plenty, of great variety, of the most and best of many seasons, is everywhere. We are outfitting hundreds of women every day—quickly, satisfactorily. In so modest a garment as a Silk Frock at $25.00, we are showing eleven entirely new and decidedly different models. In Suits at $40.00, which we mention particularly today, we have just added several new models to the ten already shown at this price. New Sports Suits are coming in daily—several new models will be shown for the first time to-morrow. And Street Dresses of fine wool twills, simulating coat effects, and with a tailored finish emphasized by long rows of buttons and flat rows of braids, are shown in a most engaging variety.

Sports Suits Here, from $25.00 to $115.00

Jersey in heather mixtures and plain colors, also the beautiful new bonbonette and the smart Irish Dent tweeds—just what so many women want for the beach and spring pleasure expeditions generally. Some made with yokes and with military straps on the shoulders, some slip over the head in sweater fashion, others are highly distinctive with their embroideries of braids and wool yarns, some models are finished at the neck with a soft scarf, fringed at the ends. The model sketched ($67.50) is of an elegant new knitted fabric.

Smartly Tailored Suits, $40.00

Of men's-wear serge, gabardine and silvertone. Some fitted snugly at the waist-line and flaring smartly over the hips; others with coats slightly bloused or showing decided box effects; some variously plaited and tucked and finished with belt. The model sketched at the extreme left is from this group.

Suits of various materials—$22.50 to $190.00

Eleven Models in Silk Frocks at $25.00

The model with the little plaits shown in the sketch, is from this collection. Another of taffeta has the new straight skirt, finished with a plaited girder; the bodice cut in front to reveal a tucked vest of white crepe Georgette. Another model is made with an embroidered over-blouse, and crepe Georgette sleeves with embroidered flared cuffs. Another model is of crepe de chine, with tucked vest and deep shawl collar. One is of crepe Georgette embroidered in simulated tuck effects. Another is of crepe Georgette combined with taffeta, and one is of taffeta with crepe sleeves, vest and collar, and one has the skirt in three-flounce style. Another has a short snappy tunic, and so on. A truly delightful collection.

Two New Models in Silk Frocks, $18.75

The model sketched is of taffeta, the other model is of crepe de chine, made in a plaited, straight-line style, loosely girdled.

Dance Frocks—$18.75 to $60.00.
Jersey Dresses—$25.00 to $60.00

The Very Latest Ideas in New Easter Millinery $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00

The Hat sketched is one of the fashionable new large Hats, developed in exquisite tones of brown and gold, and is one of many of the larger types prepared especially for the Easter dress occasions. In some of these Hats we are employing an entirely new straw—a combination of Milan Hemp and Italian Milan, which is most effective. Some are faced in crepe Georgette, others are entirely of straw, trimmed with flowers in pretty mixed effects, spreading wings, glycerined ostrich in soft, graceful swirls, and many are trimmed with beautiful ribbons. All new, all different, every Hat a remarkable value.
